

TRUPE FANDANGA OniroLóptero

CRL CENTRAL ELETRICA

A tiny universe
with a small being,
in the tallest tree in the forest.
The body is small,
the wings are even smaller.
Utopia is great.

Ornithopters are machines that mimic the flight of birds.

Onirotóptero is a micro event of a miniature puppet who struggles to devise the escape from his refuge.

"Onirotóptero" is a puppet show similar to the Lambe-Lambe theater.

It is presented to two people in each 7-minute session. The scenario lives in a walking box that can move around any space.

Spectators are intimately connected to the performance and the puppeteer.

They are invited to sit on small benches, put on their headphones and “peek” at what the box reveals.

TRUPE FANDANGA

Trupe Fandanga was created in Porto in 2014, under the direction of Sandra Neves, and had their first public presentation in the WIP program of the FIMP - Festival Internacional de Marionetas do Porto that same year with the show Botequim.

The company aims to be a space for research in puppet and object construction and manipulation. Their work focuses on presenting puppets outside conventional settings, with a special interest in intimate, small-scale shows. After Botequim, the Trupe presented the micro-puppet show Onirotóptero in 2019, following the Brazilian miniature puppetry tradition of 'Teatro Lambe Lambe'. In 2021, their new show Qubim tours the main puppet festivals in Portugal.
